

HUMANE

Society of Louisiana

Hurricane Relief 2024

This year's hurricane season brought unprecedented challenges to communities across the Gulf and East Coast. Shortly after Louisiana endured the flooding and high winds of Hurricane Francine, another powerful storm—Hurricane Helene—threatened the U.S. mainland. Helene, the deadliest hurricane since Katrina, tore through Florida and up the East Coast, leaving catastrophic flooding in its wake, particularly in Asheville, North Carolina. Our charity has deep ties to Asheville, where many friends, volunteers, and partner organizations were affected by Helene's devastation. Just as so many have stood beside us in the aftermath of past storms, we felt a strong call to support them in this time of crisis. With your support, we were able to help out in Asheville, North Carolina and Douglas, Georgia, as well as here at home.

